BATTLESHIP FIRE DESTROYS FRENCH AERO AT TRIESTE

Berlin, June 29.—The following report from the Austrian admiralty, assumed on June 24, was received here today:

"Austro-Hungarian torpedo boats on the morning of June 23 shelled a factory and a freight train in motion near Giulianova, on the Italian East Coast. The locomotive blew up, four freight cars were set on fire and several others were damaged. Our warships returned without molestation by the enemy.

"On the evening of June 23 an Italian observer was killed and a French pilot captured from an aeroplane.

"The machine was numbered F. B. A. 12. It was taken to Trieste. On the morning of June 24 an Austro-Hungarian air squadron successfully bombed the railroad bridge and stations at Pont Di Mal and Porto Grado. A bridge was hit four times. All our aeroplanes returned unharmed, notwithstanding a violent fire which was directed against them.

An hour later a French aeroplane of the F. B. A. type was shot down by the battleship Lieutenant Bahr in the Gulf of Trieste. It fell into the ocean at a point four kilometres from Porto Grado. An armoured motorboat of the enemy, under protection of the enemy's batteries, succeeded in rescuing the aeroplane, both occupants of which probably were wounded badly."

With all the great strides made, health and longer life—the greatest needs of all—seem to have been slighted. Improvements in this direction have not kept pace with the added strenuousness of the age. Science has contributed one discovery which has endured the test of time during the generation—
